The Power and Limitations of Global Cities

On the front lines of the world's greatest challenges, global cities—rather than countries—are driving some of the most innovative solutions. What problems can global cities solve that countries can't? What is the intersection of authority between the two? How is the rise of global cities changing global governance and international institutions, such as the United Nations?

Speakers:

Carl Bildt, Former Prime Minister and Foreign Minister, Sweden

Chan Heng Chee, Chairman, Lee Kuan Yew Centre for Innovative Cities, Singapore University of Technology and Design

Henry M. Paulson, Jr., Founder and Chairman, Paulson Institute

Thursday, June 2, 2016

7:45 & 8:15 a.m. Shuttles depart hotels

8:00 a.m. Breakfast and Gallery Viewing

Breakfast will be available in the Grand Staircase of the Art Institute of Chicago, the marble entryway of this landmark institution. Chicago Forum participants are welcome to browse the galleries before the museum opens to the public.

Venue: Art Institute, Grand Foyer, 111 South Michigan Avenue

8:45-10:00 a.m.

Cultural Heritage and Modernization

Global cities are historic places, rooted in rich cultural heritage. But as they modernize and urbanize, much of what traditionally defined them can get lost in the development. How can global cities preserve their cultural attributes while building and expanding? What role do various institutions, including business, civic, and political, play in defining the culture of global cities? How can arts and culture in cities help shape global policies and solve global challenges?

Venue: Art Institute, Rubloff Auditorium, 230 South Columbus Drive

Introduction by:

James Rondeau, President and Eloise W. Martin Director, Art Institute of Chicago

Speakers:

Sultan Sooud Al Qassemi, Gulf-based Columnist

Moderated by Caroline Daniel

10:00-10:10 a.m.

Special Presentation: Transforming Food Systems in an Urbanizing World

Most of the world's urbanization will occur in cities already struggling to meet future needs. This special presentation will feature the findings and recommendations of a new Chicago Council on Global Affairs report on Growing Food for Growing Cities: Transforming Food Systems in an Urbanizing World. The report examines how cities can ensure food security for their growing populations, and manage the demand for nutritious, safe, and sustainable food. It also explores opportunities to integrate the world's small-scale rural farmers with burgeoning urban markets, and recommends how the global food system should be transformed.

Speaker:

Rajiv Shah, former Administrator, US Agency for International Development

10:10-10:40 a.m.

Break

10:45-12:00 p.m.

Global Threats to the Global City

Global cities are increasingly grappling with transnational security threats such as terrorism, cyberattacks on critical infrastructure, and pandemics. How are global cities responding to and preparing for these threats, particularly in collaboration with or independent of national agencies? What types of security infrastructure and technology are needed? Can a global city be both secure and welcoming?

Speakers:

Ebtesam Al-Ketbi, President, Emirates Policy Center

2:00-3:15 p.m.

Redesigning the Global City

Global cities, often designed for different eras, must upgrade existing infrastructure and transform public spaces to meet modern-day demands and population growth. How can design and planning advance sustainable and inclusive urban development? How can the built environment improve public health and quality of life? How have global cities improved their land-use to better serve their residents?

Speakers:

Ricky Burdett, Director, LSE Cities

Peter Kudryavtsev, Founding Partner, Citymakers

LaMar Hasbrouck, MD, MPH, Executive Director, National Association of County and City Health Officials (NACCHO)

Break

3:23-3:30 p.m.

Flash Talk: Topic TBD

3:30-4:45 p.m.

Win or Lose? Investing in High-Profile Events

High profile events, sports, and tourism can raise a global city's international profile or even propel other cities on the world stage. How do major sporting, cultural, and political events help shape, brand, and define global cities? Is the significant investment of financial and political capital beneficial, and why have some efforts failed? How can cities leverage high-profile events and coordination with the national government to rebrand their identity?

Speakers:

Dora Bakoyannis, Former Foreign Minister, Former Mayor of Athens, Greece

Kasim Reed, Mayor, City of Atlanta
